

I have worked with Lindsay for the past two summers at Derby Summer Arts, a summer camp dedicated to the arts, in Hingham Massachusetts. This past summer we co-directed a one act play with a group of 17 student actors. Lindsay was involved in all aspects of the production: choosing the play, casting, staging, working with the actors, and all design and technical elements. She did an excellent job, and I was very impressed with her talents and abilities.

Lindsay is an excellent director. She has a great theater sense. She understands what needs to be done to make the play a successful one. She has a great imagination and always comes up with creative and clever ideas. She is also well versed in the design elements of the play, and made major contributions in the areas of sound, lights, sets, and costuming.

Lindsay works extremely well with the other members of the design team and with the other counselors at Derby Summer Arts. She is helpful, cooperative, and a good listener, while not being shy about expressing her own opinions. She brings a great deal of positive energy to her work. She is enthusiastic and fun to work with. Lindsay is liked and respected by both adults and students.

Lindsay has a great rapport with her students. Her enthusiasm helps here, as does the positive way she deals with student actors and technicians. All suggestions on how to improve are always stated in a positive and constructive way. Lindsay knows how to have fun with her students, but she never loses sight of the need to discipline students in a firm and fair way. Overall, the atmosphere she helps to create is safe and nurturing.

Lindsay is an excellent teacher and director with fine personal qualities. She is responsible, hard working, a cooperative team player, and a talented theater artist. I know that she will be a success in any directing or teaching setting, because of her knowledge, experience and talent. She has my full support and my highest recommendation.
